

ABSTRACT

A sheet material is provided having a smooth continuous top sheet material to which a non-slip foam is directly adhered. The material is created by casting a styrene butadiene material directly on the sheet material without the use of an intermediate layer and curing the material on the film.